

SEEN & HEARD

Excimer Laser Trabeculostomy

Cathleen McCabe, MD, joins MIGS Unplugged to discuss Elios excimer laser trabeculostomy (Bausch + Lomb) with hosts Arsham Sheybani, MD, and Iqbal Ike K. Ahmed, MD, FRCSC. Dr. McCabe reviews the mechanism of action of the laser and how it enables precise glaucoma treatment to enhance the natural outflow pathway. They discuss 8-year follow-up data and how this technology differs from other treatment approaches.

“INVOLVEMENT OF THE BILLING TEAM AND INDUSTRY PARTNERS FROM DAY 1 IS CRUCIAL. DEVICE REPRESENTATIVES AND REIMBURSEMENT SPECIALISTS ARE RESOURCES THE PRACTICE CAN—AND SHOULD—CALL ON TO STREAMLINE PREAUTHORIZATION, CODING GUIDELINES, AND STAFF TRAINING. THIS CAN HELP PREVENT DELAYS AND MAXIMIZE BOTH PATIENT ACCESS TO CARE AND PRACTICE SUSTAINABILITY.”

—Blake Williamson, MD, MPH; “Integrating MIGS Into Routine Phacoemulsification,” Cataract & Refractive Surgery Today

The Role of Anterior Segment OCT in MIGS

On GT: The Podcast, Neeru A. Vallabh, MBBS, FRCOphth, PhD, FEBOS-GL, recaps her article, “The Role of Anterior Segment OCT in MIGS,” which was featured in the March/April issue of Glaucoma Today. Dr. Vallabh explores how this mode of advanced imaging can enhance the patient evaluation and surgical results; she reviews its utility for preoperative evaluation and intraoperative adjustments and its ability to provide insights into postoperative outcomes.

Meeting Updates

Interventional Glaucoma Consortium 2025

November 7–9; Salt Lake City

IGC Fellows Program 2025

November 7–9; Salt Lake City

MOD Live 2025

November 7–9; Austin, Texas

Glaucoma Research Foundation New Horizons Forum

January 30; San Francisco

AGS Annual Meeting 2026

February 19–22; Rancho Mirage, California

AECOS Winter Symposium

February 22–25; Aspen, Colorado

ASCRS Annual Meeting 2026

April 10–13; Washington, DC

YoungMD Connect Live 2026

May 15–17; Austin, Texas

17th EGS Congress

May 30–June 2; Brussels

AECOS European Symposium

June 11–14; Madrid

AECOS Summer Symposium

July 9–12; Deer Valley, Utah

44th ESCRS Congress

September 11–15; London

AAO Annual Meeting 2026

October 9–12; New Orleans